Corruption Cases Resolved in Court

This information is intended to prevent crime and to inform the public, in an accessible manner, about the crimes set out in the Criminal Code and how such cases are resolved.

As of October 23, 2026, the prosecution service had issued indictments in 248 cases involving 583 persons charged as accused with corruption crimes under Chapter 22 of the Criminal Code.

Over the past week, from October 19 to October 23, 2026, courts of first instance resolved 3 cases involving 9 persons that had been indicted and transferred to court by the Capital City Prosecutor's Office. The court found 6 persons guilty of corruption crimes and deprived them of the right to work in public service for periods of 2 to 3 years, sentencing 2 persons to fines of 6.5 million MNT and 4 persons to restriction of freedom of movement for periods ranging from 1 year to 1 year and 1 month, and acquitted 3 persons by dismissing the charges against them.

An overview of the cases:

- While serving as public officials, namely executives of the research department of the Institute for Labour and Social Protection Training, Assessment and Research, and as members of the working group for selecting the contractor for the study “Patterns and Changes in Mongolian Family Relations”, M.D, E.B and O.S abused their official duties, powers and positions, violated the relevant laws and regulations, falsified meeting minutes and selected “M....” LLC, thereby creating an advantage for that company, and caused 91 million MNT in damage to the Institute for Labour and Social Protection Training, Assessment and Research. An indictment was issued under Article 22.1, Part 1 of the Criminal Code (Abuse of power and official position), and the case was transferred to court.

> The court found M.D, E.B and O.S guilty of committing, as a group, the crime of abuse of power and official position, deprived them of the right to work in public service for 2 years, sentenced them to 1 year and 1 month of restriction of freedom of movement to places other than the district in which they reside, and ordered the civil defendant “M....” LLC to pay 91 million MNT;

- While serving as a public official, namely a senior state customs inspector at the Customs Office at Chinggis Khaan International Airport, O.B, with the aim of satisfying the interest of an acquaintance, Ts.Ch, in bringing in jewellery worth 239 million MNT without declaring it to customs and without paying taxes, gave unlawful instructions to state customs inspector T.B, thereby creating conditions for Ts.Ch to avoid paying 37 million MNT in taxes and creating an advantage. In this case involving 5 persons, an indictment was issued under Article 22.1, Part 1 of the Criminal Code (Abuse of power and official position), and the case was transferred to court.

> The court dismissed the charges against B.Ch, L.Ts and B.T and acquitted them, found public officials O.B and T.B guilty of the crime of abuse of power and official position, deprived them of the right to work in public service for 3 years, and sentenced each of them to a fine of 6.5 million MNT.
