422 Infringements of the Law on Ensuring Food Product Safety Registered

Every year on October 16, countries around the world celebrate "World Food Day." The purpose of this day is to raise awareness of the importance of providing everyone with safe, nutritious and sufficient food, and to draw public attention to reducing hunger, food shortages and malnutrition and to ensuring food safety.

The Department for Ensuring the Implementation of Infringement Legislation of the General Prosecutor's Office studied the incidence and resolution of the infringement “Violation of the Law on Ensuring Food Product Safety,” provided for in Article 6.15 of the Law on Infringements, as of the third quarter of 2026.

> During this period, authorized officials received and examined a total of 422 complaints and reports concerning the infringement “Violation of the Law on Ensuring Food Product Safety,” of which 160, or 37.9 percent, were registered in the capital city and 262, or 62.1 percent, in the provinces.

By type of infringement, 202 infringements of “producing, storing or selling food products past their expiry date” were registered, accounting for 47.9 percent of all infringements and representing the highest figure, while the lowest figure was 2 infringements related to food business operators producing with or storing raw materials and products that did not meet food product quality and safety requirements.

In terms of penalties imposed for all registered infringements, penalties were imposed on 385 individuals and legal entities, of which 210, or 54.5 percent, were legal entities and 175, or 45.5 percent, were individuals.

> Through infringement examination and resolution proceedings, fines totalling 759.2 million MNT were imposed on individuals and legal entities, of which 489.5 million MNT, or 64.5 percent, has been paid.

Since food product safety directly affects citizens' health and quality of life, the prosecution service calls on food business operators to improve their control over product quality, safety, storage conditions and expiry dates and to comply with the relevant laws and regulations.
