Meeting and Dialogue on “Human Rights and the Prosecutor” Held

On November 16, 2026, the prosecution service held, for the second year, the meeting and dialogue on “Human Rights and the Prosecutor”, which it organises to intensify its work to protect human rights and freedoms and the public interest and to expand cooperation with civil society organisations.

This year's event was attended by representatives of civil society organisations including the Globe International Center, the Open Society Forum, Amnesty International Mongolia, the Institute for Law and Legal Development, Intellectual Innovation, Psychological Sensitivity and the National Center Against Violence.

The prosecution service provided information on the work and measures it is implementing to ensure and protect human rights, as well as on the work and measures taken in response to proposals made by civil society organisations at the previous meeting.

The parties exchanged views on jointly organising discussions, trainings and advocacy activities aimed at further strengthening the protection of human rights, preventing crimes and infringements, and raising citizens' legal awareness.

Participants expressed their gratitude to the prosecution service for receiving representatives of civil society organisations every year, listening to their proposals and requests, and incorporating them into its activities.
